I am a fresh graduate with a degree in International Relations from Universitas Brawijaya. Through my organizational experiences during university, I have developed key skills in leadership, diplomacy, public speaking, event and project management, public relations, communication, and teamwork. These experiences have fueled my eagerness to continue learning and growing professionally. With these skills, I have developed a strong interest in event and community management, project development, human resources, public relations, and diplomacy. I am passionate about applying these abilities to contribute effectively in a dynamic and collaborative environment.
